

Privacy Policy

Even's Privacy Policy was created to reaffirm its commitment to the safety and privacy of information collected from the users of Even's interactive services. You may visit this website and get acquainted with the services the Company offers, read reports, obtain news and information without having to provide any personal information. However, should such be the case, this policy purposes to clarify how the Company collects and handles your personal data. Since this policy is subject to occasional updating, Even advises it be regularly consulted.

1. Any information provided by the users shall be collected and stored according to strict security and reliability patterns.
2. Personal data provided by the users shall be collected through ethical and legal means. Such collection may have one or more targets about which users shall be informed.
3. Users shall be advised that their data is being collected and they may choose whether they want to provide it or not, they will be further advised about the consequences of their decision.
4. Unless a legal or judicial order is issued, information provided by users shall never be disclosed to third parties or used for purposes other than those for which it was collected.
5. Access to collected information will be restricted to employees authorized to adequately use such data. Employees that unduly use such information, infringing Even's Privacy Policy, shall be subject to the penalties provided by its discipline procedure.
6. Even shall maintain the integrity of the information provided through this website.
7. This website contains links or frames for other sites, which may or may not be Even partners and allies. These links and frames are available merely in the hopes of providing yet another benefit to the users of this website. Note that including these links and frames does not mean that Even has full knowledge, agreement, or responsibility for those frames and links or for their respective content. Therefore, Even can not be held responsible for any type of damage caused by the use of the referred links and frames.
8. Even requires any third parties hired to perform support services to adhere to its privacy standards.
9. If it is necessary, the Company may use cookies^(*) to confirm your ID, personalize your access and to check the use of Even's website aiming at improving its navigating and functioning conditions.
10. Other important information on the terms and conditions of use of this site is available on Terms and Conditions.

^(*) Cookie: small archive put into your PC to keep track of moves within the websites, such as visits to homepages and advertisements.